SIGMOD 2013 – Call for Workshop Proposals

http://www.sigmod.org/2013/calls.shtml

Several workshops are held together with the annual SIGMOD/PODS conference. The deadline for the receipt of proposals for SIGMOD-sponsored workshops to be co-located with SIGMOD/PODS 2013 is:

Friday, September 28, 2012

Workshops will take place before the SIGMOD/PODS conference. In particular, workshops will generally take place on Sunday, June 23, with two taking place on Monday, June 24. Workshops that run for anywhere between half a day and a full day are possible.

The logistics of the workshops will be handled by the SIGMOD 2013 organization. Specifically, SIGMOD 2013 will take care of facilities, catering, and registration for all workshops. To enable this, breaks will be coordinated.

The organizers of accepted workshops are required to announce the workshop and call for papers, solicit submissions, conduct the reviewing process, and decide upon the final workshop program that must be published at least two weeks before the early registration deadline. In addition, each workshop must prepare its own proceedings, which must be submitted for inclusion in the ACM Digital Library. Publication of calls for papers and participation as well as eventual workshop reports in SIGMOD Record are encouraged.

Proposal evaluation criteria include the following: relevance to SIGMOD, scientific quality, perceived interest (e.g., previous submission counts), past performance (e.g., publication of the proceedings in the ACM DL), and overlap with other proposals. Notification of acceptance will occur by Friday, October 26, 2012.

Further inquiries should be sent to the SIGMOD 2013 Workshops Chair:

Christian S. Jensen (csj [at] cs.au.dk)
SIGMOD Vice-Chair

Submission Guidelines:

- The following link details the contents expected of a proposal.

  http://www.sigmod.org/about-sigmod/sigmod-sponsorship/sponsorship-of-conferences/

  (In particular, please address the first 9 of the 10 items in the Application Process section.)
- Proposals must be submitted by email to csj [at] cs.au.dk.